

In this rotation you will experience what it is like to learn to read a new language.

STEP 1: Read what Thiba and Kherber took when they left Afghanistan.

Here is what Thiba, Mina's mother, packed when they left Afghanistan:  <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• 6 nans*</li><li>• 1 doll</li><li>• 3 blankets</li></ul> *A nan is a type of flat bread very common in Afghanistan, Pakistan and India. 	Their neighbour, Kherber, took:  <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• 7 photos</li><li>• 4 nans</li><li>• 3 pullovers</li></ul>
--	--

STEP 2: Using the chart below and the words you learned above, list what Najmia took.

• Now figure out what Najmia, Kherber's sister, took with her. To do that, look closely at the descriptions in English and in Farsi*, and then at the table which explains the Farsi numbers. *Farsi is one of the languages spoken in Afghanistan, it is read right to left.  	List what Najmia took below:
---	-------------------------------------

EXTENSION ACTIVITY:

Now imagine that you have to run away with your family—with no prior warning. You have just a couple of minutes to pack a few things—taking only what seems important. List what you will take.